- Baseball was Spencer's first interscholastic sport in 1912. The school would not allow the students to play football until 1914, when prospective players brought in permission slips.
- Spencer's first football game was against Ravenswood, who also initiated the sport in 1914. The Red Devils would become Spencer's Thanksgiving Day opponent in the 1920s.
- Spencer's first athletic teams were known as the Cliff Dwellers. The football team was "generally known" as the Yellowjackets by 1921.
- The local newspapers attempted to change Spencer's mascot to a Spartan in 1940. The Roane County Reporter explained that the Yellowjacket nickname dated from when the school colors were yellow and white and did not fit anymore. The nickname was used only for a year or two.
- Spencer's first conference affiliation was with the Little Four Conference in 1944. The league was made up of the seven schools that played football in Calhoun, Jackson, Roane and Wirt Counties. The Yellowjackets had tried to join the Little Mountaineer Conference in the late 1930s but these plans were never realized.

Little Kanawha: 1947-1981,

- Alan Morford started football at Walton in 1938. The team was outfitted in used equipment donated by Glenville State College. For the first two years, all games were played at Spencer's athletic field, and the team did not play a full schedule.
- When the school burned in February 1940, the basketball season was cancelled and no plans were made for a football team either. However, at the last minute a football schedule was arranged, and the team obtained uniforms from Normantown High School, who had just cancelled their football program.
- Due to the hastily arranged schedule in 1940, Walton had to play games on successive days; September 27 in Clendenin and September 28 in Glenville.
- Walton was a member of the Little Four Conference in 1944 and 1945, but had by then cancelled its football program due to World War II.
- Walton became a charter member of the LKC in 1947, but did not qualify for the league football championship that year. The Tigers had just resumed football and were playing a JV schedule.
- Walton played at Camp Sheppard in Gandeenville as early as 1952, but bleachers and lights were not installed until the late 1950s.
